

M'KINLEY AND ROOSEVELT

Unanimously Nominated Standard Bearers of Republican Party.

Foraker Sets the Convention Wild When Name of McKinley Was Presented.

William McKinley was nominated by the national Republican convention at Philadelphia Thursday afternoon by unanimous vote.

There was a great demonstration when the result of the vote was announced.

The delegates shouted themselves hoarse, and flags and plumes and wildly, thousands cheering and stamping their feet on the floor in demonstrating their enthusiasm.

The nominating speeches began early. The convention opened after 10 o'clock, and, with a few preliminary out of the way, the speeches began.

Chairman Lodge advanced to the front of the platform and said:

"Under the rules, nominations for the office of president of the United States are now in order."

There was a momentary pause, punctuated by the announcement:

"The state of Alabama is recognized."

A tall and swarthy Alabamian stood on his chair and by pre-arrangement answered:

"Alabama yields to Ohio."

This was the signal for the recognition of Senator Foraker, who was to make the speech re-nominating Mr. McKinley as the Republican candidate for president. Then the cheers began and a wild scene ensued.

His announcement that the nomination was equal to an election in November brought vociferous cheers. Briefly, Senator Foraker averted to the record of the president in peace and in war as one of the most remarkable in American history.

The closing words of the governor brought another demonstration, and for a minute it seemed the convention would go mad then and there, and make two nominations instead of one.

Sensor Lodge then recognized John W. Yerkes, of Kentucky, who arose to second the nomination on behalf of the south. He was followed in turn by George Knight of the California delegation and Senator Thurston of Nebraska.

During the call of state delegations were noticeably attentive and there was a demonstration among the delegates.

Some of the states were not content with casting their votes for McKinley, but they announced the vote which the candidates would receive in November.

At the call of Hawaii the delegations stood and cheered the announcement of the new possession of its two votes for McKinley.

The tally clerks quickly made the official summary and handed it to the chairman. Mr. Lodge took the paper and advancing to the front of the stage said:

"The total vote cast is 930. McKinley receives 930. It is unanimous, and the chair declares that William McKinley is your nominee for the presidency for the term beginning March 4, 1901."

Pandemonium again broke loose in one swelling chorus of enthusiasm for the new candidate.

The huge counterfeit of an elephant was brought into the hall. Around its neck was entwined garlands of flowers. Laughter and applause were mingled as the great emblem was borne about. The demonstration in honor of the president's nomination lasted five minutes.

"Teddy" At Last Bows To the Will of the Party As McKinley's Running Mate.

Governor Roosevelt, of New York, is the Republican nominee for vice president of the United States. "Teddy" was given the nomination without the asking. His victory was complete. No other name was mentioned. The convention went wild for him from the beginning to the end.

Before order was restored after the nomination of McKinley, Mr. Lodge warned the noisy and demonstrative throng that there was some vital business to be done, and announced that the call of states would proceed for nominations for the vice presidency.

As the name of Alabama was called on the roll of states for the nomination of candidates for the vice presidency the announcement was made that Alabama would yield to Iowa to present a candidate. Chairman Lodge then recognized Colonel LaFayette Young, one of the Iowa delegates at large, and editor of the Des Moines, Iowa, Capital.

He withdrew the name of Dolliver and offered that of Roosevelt. The colonel was in Cuba at the time Roosevelt led his rough riders up San Juan hill, and, his reference to the governor's campaign was eloquent.

date of the young men of the country who represented their ambitions and embodied their patriotism and Americanism was not second to that accorded the president's name.

The band in the main gallery began to play "There'll be a hot time in the old town tonight," and to the inspiring strains the delegates began marching around the hall, filing past Governor Roosevelt as he sat in the New York delegation, and extending to him their congratulations.

Speeches seconding Roosevelt's nomination were made by Murray of Massachusetts, Ashton of Washington and Depeu of New York.

Delegates and spectators were becoming excited and called for the vote. They wanted action, not oratory.

The impatient audience called for a vote, apparently assuming that there would be other candidates. It took some minutes to restore order.

As the roll-call proceeded, each delegation as called, cast their votes for Roosevelt unanimously.

With the conclusion of the call Chairman Lodge announced that Governor Roosevelt had received 929 votes, one delegate in the convention not voting. This delegate was Roosevelt himself. Chairman Lodge's announcement that Governor Roosevelt had been nominated for vice president brought out tremendous applause.

The candidate for vice president was surrounded by delegates showering congratulations on him.

The serious work of the convention was over and the details only remained to be performed. A resolution was agreed to empowering the national committee to fill the vacancies on committees.

Resolutions of thanks to Mr. Lodge and Mr. Wolcott for their able services as presiding officers were unanimously adopted. Also thanks to Mayor Ashbridge, of Philadelphia, for the hospitality of the city.

This closed the work and at 2:14 p. m. the Republican national convention of 1900 adjourned sine die.

JENNINGS IS NAMED

By Democrats of Florida as Candidate For Governor.

FORTY-FOUR BALLOTS WERE TAKEN.

List of Other State Officers Nominated at the State Convention Held in Jacksonville.

The Florida state Democratic convention nominated Hon. William S. Jennings as candidate for governor.

On the thirtieth ballot a stampede was attempted for Mays, his vote being jumped up from 88 to 1224. His strength was drawn from Beggs, Myers and Milton, only 14 votes leaving Jennings in the stampede. Myers dropped out of the race after the thirtieth ballot, though no formal withdrawal was made.

On the forty-first ballot Mays withdrew in favor of Milton; on the forty-third ballot Beggs withdrew, and on the forty-fourth ballot William S. Jennings received the required two-thirds vote and his nomination was made unanimous amid a scene of wild enthusiasm.

The nominee is a first cousin of William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska. He is a native of Illinois, but removed to Florida in 1886. He is thirty-seven years old.

The following state officers were nominated: Francis Bicar, justice of the supreme court; John L. Crawford, secretary of state; W. H. Reynolds, comptroller; W. B. Lamar, attorney general.

W. N. Sheats, superintendent of public instruction.

Hon. B. E. McLin, commissioner of agriculture.

John L. Morgan, railroad commissioner.

The governor and state officials hold office for four years.

Judge George P. Raney, of Tallahassee, was chosen the Florida member of the national Democratic committee.

This is the last state Democratic convention that will be held in Florida for many years, probably, as the platform adopted provides for primaries for United States senator down.

BRYAN OF PLATFORM.

Nebraskan Gives His Opinion of the Republican Document.

When asked his opinion of the Philadelphia platform, Colonel Bryan said: "The Philadelphia platform is the best evidence thus far given of the deception attempted by the Republican party. Taking in connection with the speeches made at the convention, it shows that the Republican party's platform of 1896 was a deliberate fraud as far as the promises of international bimetalism was concerned; that the party's attitude on the trust question is insincere and that the party is not willing to state its attitude on the Philippine question and invite the judgment of the people."

FILIPINOS WIN VICTORY.

An American Detachment Is Forced Back By the Rebels.

A Manila special says: A detachment of forty men of the Fortieth regiment, Captain Thomas Miller commanding, left Cagayan de Misamis, island of Mindanao, scouting, June 13th. During the morning of June 14th they encountered a strongly ambushed and entrenched force of the enemy.

The Americans' attempts to charge were frustrated by the Filipinos' pitfalls and troops. The advance line consequently was under a heavy fire in front and on its flanks, and fell back on Cagayan. The American loss was nine men killed and two officers and ten men wounded.

CUBAN TEACHERS COMING.

Bound For Boston, Where They Will Be Given Instruction.

Quartermaster General Ludington received word Saturday of the departure of the transport McPherson from Manzanillo, Cuba, with 250 Cuban teachers bound for Boston by way of the eastern ports of Cuba. This movement makes the beginning of the general movement of about 2,500 teachers from Cuban ports to Boston, where they are to receive a general course of instruction during the summer under the auspices of the Harvard university.

DWELLING HOUSE SUBMERGED.

Florida Family Had Narrow Escape From Being Buried Alive.

Sunday night the house of John Cleary, two miles from Ocala, Fla., without warning, but with loud creakings, sank into the ground up to the eaves. The inmates had a narrow escape. The house was located in a bowl-like depression, and water had gathered about the house until it was two feet deep. While the family were at meals, a rumbling noise was heard and the house began shaking. The family rushed out and the house sank immediately. One end was caught on a projecting tree, while the rest with the furniture, etc., was buried underground.

BRYAN BREAKS LONG SILENCE

Nebraskan Talks of Platform and the Vice-Presidency.

WILL REAFFIRM OLD PRINCIPLES

No Modification Will Be Entered, But Other Planks Will Be Added to Document.

Hon. William J. Bryan, in an authorized interview given to an Omaha World-Herald correspondent Monday, broke his long silence on the question of the platform to be adopted at Kansas City July 4th and the candidate for vice president.

Mr. Bryan was asked whether he could say anything in regard to the platform to be adopted at Kansas City. He replied:

"No one, of course, can say what language will be used in setting forth the party principles, but some idea can be obtained as to the general tenor of the platform from the platforms adopted in the state conventions."

"As a large majority of the delegates have been elected by conventions which reaffirmed the Chicago platform, it is safe to assume that the Kansas City platform will reaffirm the Chicago platform, and will contain nothing which can be construed as a surrender or modification of that platform on the old issues. It is equally certain that there will be a strong and definite plank against the trusts. There is also no doubt that the plank against imperialism will be clear and explicit. Militarism will be denounced and sympathy expressed for the Boers. This much is evident from what has already taken place."

You have refused to discuss the vice presidency heretofore, Mr. Bryan. Is there any truth in the rumor that a vice president will be chosen whose views on the money question will be attractive to those who opposed the ticket in '96?

"It is true that I have refused to discuss the vice presidency," replied Mr. Bryan, "and I do not care to do so now, further than to say that I assume that the candidate nominated for vice president will be in harmony with the platform."

"The vice president not only presides over the senate while the president is alive, but assumes the office of president in case of the president's death, and it is hardly possible that delegates to a national convention would write a platform and then select for either place on a ticket a man who would repudiate the platform. No man worthy to be considered for such an office would accept a nomination upon a platform repugnant to his views on any important issue."

"In every campaign men support a ticket without approving all the platform, but no one can defend a platform unless he believes in it. Many tariff reform gold Democrats supported the Republican ticket in '96, although they dissented from the protection plank. But the Republican convention would not have nominated a tariff reformer on a protection platform. There is sometimes a joint debate between candidates of opposing tickets, but not between candidates on the same ticket."

MORE BODIES FOUND.

Thirty-Seven People Known to Have Died in McDonough Wreck.

A special from McDonough says: Thirty-six mutilated bodies, many passengers missing and nine escaped with their lives, is the latest summary of the frightful wreck on the Mason division of the Southern railroad near McDonough last Saturday night.

Thirty-one bodies had been recovered up to midnight Sunday night.

Three bodies were found Monday morning—D. Y. Griffith, supervisor; W. L. Morrisette, superintendent pumping station; J. H. Hunsicutt, freight conductor; charred pieces of two other bodies.

There was still another body, making 37, that could be plainly seen in the water, but it was pinned down by a large boulder.

Piece by piece the torn and dismembered engine and passenger coaches were pulled from the abyss Monday.

One by one the bodies, lacerated, mutilated, broken and disfigured, were hauled from the death trap and sent to the morgue in McDonough.

The gruesome work of clearing the wreck and rescuing the bodies, while the rain was falling in torrents, was watched by thousands of persons who waded in water and mud to their knees and cheered the workers on in their unpleasant and seemingly hopeless task.

As the bodies were taken from the wreckage, they were quickly carried in a caboose to McDonough, where half the town people were pressed in to service to aid the undertakers.

England's New War Medal.

The medal for the present South African campaign will be the most expensive and the most ornate issued by the war office in recent years. The medal proper is a five-pointed star, with a gold centre surrounded by a ring of bronze, on which the words "South Africa," appear in raised letters. In the centre of all is a miniature of the queen. The medal is the same size as the khedival star of 1881. The ribbon is of four colors, a stripe of khaki in the centre, two of white and one each of red and blue. There will probably be a bar granted for each important engagement.—Scottish American.

Cutting the Curd.

Extreme caution is required in cutting cheese curd so as to avoid breaking or bruising it. The knife must be sharp and there must be no dragging or ragged surfaces. Use the horizontal steel knife lengthwise, going from end to end of vat and then use the vertical knife. After this has been done, run the vertical knife through the curd across the vat from side to side. The curd should then be in half-inch cubes.

World to End This Year.

This is the recent decision of one of the prominent societies of the world, but the exact day has not yet been fixed upon, and while there are very few people who believe this prediction, there are thousands of others who not only believe, but know that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best medicine to cure dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, biliousness or liver and kidney troubles. A fair trial will certainly convince you of its value.

Slightly Mixed.

Manager—"Well, have you the program all fixed for next Monday's concert?" Assistant—"The program's all right, but there's another row among the artists."

Manager—"What are they fussing about?" Assistant—"About whose turn it is to be ill to appear."—Tide Bites.

PASSING

Look in your mirror today. Take a last look at your gray hair. Surely may be the last if you want it so; you needn't keep your gray hair a week longer than you wish. There's no guesswork about this; it's sure every time.

To restore color to gray hair use—

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

After using it for two or three weeks notice how much younger you appear, ten years younger at least.

Ayer's Hair Vigor also cures dandruff, prevents falling of the hair, makes hair grow, and is a splendid hair dressing.

It cannot help but do these things for it's a hair food. When the hair is well fed, it cannot help but grow.

It makes the scalp healthy and this cures the disease that causes dandruff.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

"My hair was coming out badly, but Ayer's Hair Vigor stopped the falling and has made my hair very thick and much darker than before. I think there is nothing like it for the hair."
